Supporting Vulnerable Practices

Dear Richard Jenkinson

The FPM Group (First Practice Management) is the UK's premier resource for Primary Care practice management. We help practice managers and GPs manage their practice in line with compliance regulation but more importantly we ensure they remain compliant.

We have a team of Practice Managers, Consultants and Trainers based around the county who are focused and driven to provide support, guidance, education and time-saving resources that help improve practice efficiencies, and equip the workforce for the future.

We are specialists in the CQC guidance, their new style visits and their effect on a practice. We understand the language the CQC use and how to apply it to the day to day operations of a busy GP surgery. Whether it is HR support, IT, management, administration or finance, our team of passionate experts understand general practice and have tried and tested tools, training courses and experience for every situation.

Supporting vulnerable practices is something we have always done since we formed over twelve years ago. We can help vulnerable practices turn around and also offer support to practices who have exited special measures but remain prioritised for support.

With a package of measures for your practices we can help to sustain and transform the existing workforce and build a foundation for future expansion.

I would like to meet with you to discuss how we can create a bespoke programme of training, consultancy, facilitation and education for the practices in your area, and will make contact in the next few days. If you would like to call me directly I am available on 0333 240 4564.

Yours sincerely

Matthew Wright
