Subject: NHS leaders have set out a roadmap for healthcare in England

Dear colleague

NHS leaders have set out a roadmap for healthcare in England in the NHS five year Forward View which will be launched today, Thursday 23 October 2014.

The forward view has been developed by the national leadership of the NHS, including NHS England, the Care Quality Commission, Public Health England, Health Education England, Monitor and the NHS Trust Development Authority.

It has been prepared in partnership with patient groups, clinicians, the voluntary sector and think tanks. It will set out why the NHS needs change, the actions we will take to deliver the transformed care for patients, and the help we need from others. It sets out the choices facing the country, arguing that unless we take decisive action now, in five years' time we will face a growing health and care quality gap.

Further information and the NHS five year Forward View is available here.
